HOW TO PLANT PEONIES

First:— Spade up a space at least two feet square for each root to be planted. Thoroughly break up, pulverize the soil.

Second:—Remove the top 6 or 8 inches and press down with the foot the soil remaining in the hole so that it will not settle.

Third:— Holding the plant by the stem, place it in the hole so that the eyes, or buds, are two inches from the top soil level.

Fourth:—With the hand, work the loose soil around the roots so that there are no air pockets and gradually fill up around the plant until the earth is well mounded about the stems. Then, firmly press the soil down to the usual level. If the season is very dry, plants may be watered when set out to give them a better start.

Fifth:— After the ground has frozen, in early winter, mulch the newly set out plants heavily with straw, leaves or other litter to keep the roots from heaving out. But do not use manure.

Sixth:— Always keep the plants well cultivated, either with a hoe, or when possible, with a horse cultivator, and see that a dust mulch is always around the plants. Never allow fresh manure, or other fertilizers, to come into contact with either stems or roots.

IRISES

How easily Irises are grown, compared with almost any other flower. Sunlight and an ordinary well drained garden soil, not overly rich, are all that they require. Irises do not like manure and if fertilization seems needed a small amount of bone meal, mixed with limestone, can be stirred in around the roots. They are best transplanted soon after the plants are through flowering, in July and August, when they soon establish themselves well enough to go through the winter without being heaved by the frost. If planted in the fall a light mulch will protect them from the lifting action of the frost, but it is well to set them a little deeper than for summer planting. The soil should be prepared as carefully as for any seed bed and if possible allowed to settle. Then dig a wide, shallow trench and spread the long roots out in a natural position but only just covering the bulb. Pack the earth well with the hand, and water. The water will continue the packing process and also leave the top of the bulb exposed to the sun as it should be. Plants should only be reset after they have become so crowded that they no longer bloom well. Cultivation will improve the looks of the garden and increase the vigor of the plants.

WE DO NOT SELL IRISES IN THE SPRING, as we have found that the growth is seriously retarded. We will ship in July and August when the plants are in the best condition for transplanting. Our prices are all based on single natural divisions, good strong rhizomes that ought to bloom the following season. Some varieties have much smaller rhizomes than others and this must be considered, but we always send out the strongest possible plant according to the variety.

CRAWFORD SEEDLINGS

We are constantly growing and selecting new seedlings. Some we are holding until our stock is large enough to permit us to list them, but we will be glad to show them to visitors. We can now offer ANNETTE, which is distinct enough to be of value in any garden, and more will follow.

TERMS OF SALE

Read carefully before ordering

GUARANTEE:

We believe our stock to be absolutely true to name and do everything possible to avoid mistakes. Should any error occur we will gladly make it good if notified promptly after first blooming.

SHIPMENT:

Orders for Iris will be filled during JULY and AUGUST and in rotation as they are received unless a certain date is specified.

STOCK:

We ship only good strong rhizomes, the natural division of the Iris and one which ought to give bloom the first season.

TERMS:

Cash with the order. No order accepted for less than $1.00.

CARRIAGE:

We do not pay transportation charges. Please tell use whether to ship by parcel post or xpress. If by parcel post, please include 10c for the first and 5c for each additional plant. We will then prepay the postage and, if there is a balance, return it to you.

PRICES:

Are net and not subject to discount.

ORDER EARLY:

As the quantity of many varieties is limited and you will be disappointed if we are sold out on them.

The numbers which precede the names are the ratings of the varieties. These ratings are the results of votes taken by the members of the American Iris Society on the basis of a theoretically perfect Iris which would rate 100. A flower which rated 70 would be a good Iris and additional points indicate its approach toward perfection. The ratings can well be used as a guide in selecting varieties.

CHRISTMAS CACTUS

This old-fashioned house-plant always blooms for us at Christmas. We set the pots in the ground in a sunny place for the summer, take them inside and place in a south window, and they always show buds by Thanksgiving. As they are plants from the desert, they do not want much water but do like the hot sun. Small plants that should bloom next Christmas, 35c each.

Please Read Carefully

We are including our price list of Peonies in this catalogue because our old customers have had our descriptive list. We will gladly send it to anyone who has not had it or who has lost it, if they will ask for it.

The prices quoted are for strong, natural divisions of three or more eyes and no small plants will be offered, as they have been found unsatisfactory.

These prices include free packing but we do not pay the transportation charges. We will ship by express unless asked to send by parcel post. If customers prefer the package sent by parcel post, please send ten cents additional for each root or division and we will pay the postage and insure the safe delivery of the package.

All roots are guaranteed to be true to name, from healthy stock which has bloomed and been checked carefully by us. Occasionally a mistake may occur in digging and labeling and if such a case should happen we will replace the plant or return the money paid.

Orders are filled as soon after the first of September as growing conditions permit, exactly in the order in which they are received and as the quantity of some of the choicer varieties is limited we advise placing your order early.

TERMS

Our terms are cash with the order, and we will promptly return the money for any varieties of which we have sold out. We will not substitute.
